

I think this format is pretty good. It is centered from the perspective of someone who is asking to be given coins, which could be adapted I think, as proposals could be about council efforts, and so on.