

Intel has released an extension to Scikit-learn that speeds up some workloads 10-100x. Of course, this only works on Intel chips, but could be useful for those of us using scikit for our numerai models.

<https://intel.github.io/scikit-learn-intelx/>

The modifications to code are minimal:

```
from sklearnex import patch_sklearn patch_sklearn()
```