

I'd be curious to know as well. Not sure about accounts dealing directly with NMR, however, I did try to get my Financial Institution to provide access to the Numerai Fund. Because, while I can't personally provide the minimum requirement for investment, I figured it would be easy for a big firm to amass enough support from their clients. They were quite interested but said at the moment it didn't meet their minimum requirements in terms of having at least a 5yr history in the marketplace. So I'll try again after they've had more run time.