

Dear Arbitrum Community,

TL;DR: Spend 5 minutes on our research [<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DAOs>

](<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DAOs>), and gain valuable insights into your participation dynamics. Understand the motivations behind contributors' involvement with Arbitrum (or lack thereof).

I am currently working on a joint research project with Andreas Eckhardt (University of Innsbruck) and Victoria Reibenspiess (Washington State University) focusing on participation dynamics in DAOs. Active and voluntary contributions are crucial success factors for DAOs, and understanding why people participate and what keeps them committed can be immensely advantageous.

Therefore, we are inviting you to participate in our 5-minute survey

: [<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DAOs>

](<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/DAOs>)

In addition to providing monetary incentives, we offer a "management summary" for each DAO with more than 40 participants in the survey. This summary provides insights into your unique participation structure, offering valuable information to better understand why people participate and remain committed to Arbitrum

. It can aid you in developing better strategies tailored to your specific needs.

Your valuable insights would significantly contribute to my PhD research!

Thank you for considering it! Feel free to reach out if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Nils Augustin (University of Innsbruck)

P.S. If you find this interesting for other DAOs you're involved in, feel free to share.
