

The price of $DYM has been consistently dropping, something has to be done, the team should do something, not to synthetically boost the price, but to bring more value to the token which will boost organic purchase and holding