

Please use this topic to provide feedback for this article by @AHart. All comments welcome!

anoma.net

Arithmetizing Computable Programs Simply | Blog - Anoma

We discuss different ways of encoding computable functions, describing nuances and limitations, before ending on the simplest known method using an intentionally complete operation that's simpler and easier to use than a Turing machine.