

As I'm starting to work with the larger datasets, my Google Colab functions are taking hours to run and thus disconnecting me in between when I leave my laptop.

Is there another tool out there that can run a jupyter notebook in the background? What are you using?

Thanks!