

Your understanding of val corr and val sharpe is correct. Regarding the example preds, the example predictions is already included in the downloaded numerai data as a csv file so you can compare it with your preds using the corr metric. These example preds are generated using the example_model.py file also included in the downloaded data.