

Good day Aztec forum!

Been following your Project from September 2023. Really like the values you guys preserve. I can see the fire in the eyes of Zac as of team and the community.

I'm not really well experienced developer and would really appreciate if anybody could help me figure out the answers for the following questions:

1. Why Aztec is privacy-first L2 but not L1 like Aleo project with it's rust based Leo language?

1. Starknet's STARKs are kind of quantum resistant, does Aztec address this possible future problem?
2. Why I should invest time in learning Noir, when I can pick up Cairo and launch a project on the mainnet?
