

I wanted to know if it was possible for a proof of work network to know its hash rate.

Let's say a coin was minted based off of the hashrate.