

Is there any research on quantifying MEV on L2 chains? (Polygon, Arbitrum etc)

We know that on L2s, without the existence of flashbots, most MEV resolves into PGAs. It would be interesting to see some metrics around the quantity of MEV being extracted and the split between validator/searcher.