

is there anywhere to readily find this?

reserve 100 million tokens from the LDO community fund for future staking rewards why?

Liquid staking is a better form of staking. Lido has a good shot to be the leading liquid staker on all blockchains and thereby has a generational opportunity to connect all chains. Lido can potentially spin up its own chain that connects all chains, using PoS consensus, in which the LDO token can natively secure this chain.

Cosmos has attempted to do this, but its not really happening b/c they did not start w/ the users (chains) first, where as Lido did. This is generational opportunity to connect ALL PoS blockchains at the consensus layer.

The only quality token economics that the market values is securing the consensus layer. Governance coins are pure hopium at this point ...