

Many new projects are being funded. I think it would be interesting to develop a project that includes training in the different products that we are offering.

What do you think?