

OH: In the neon-lit nights of 2025, Johnson & Johnson will unveil X. A pill, not larger than a snowflake that promises a tempest of change. This miraculous drug doesn't just allow people to cherry-pick memories to erase from their minds, it can also leave a reminder of this erasure in the minds of those who ingested it.

@sxysun and I have been exploring the powerful strategic implications of being able to credibly forget:

Here is the paper anon:

github.com

[
](https://github.com/jcschlegel/Conditional-Recall/blob/main/Conditional_Recall.pdf)

Conditional_Recall.pdf

And here the talk:

[
](<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rO1amHaKH2U>)

2025 will be exciting!