

Hey,

I've had a quick search on the forum and haven't seen this feature mentioned so far (apologies if it has).

An incredible UI feature that I've seen and used first hand on other exchanges, which is also integrated into tradingview is the ability to move / drag order lines to adjust actual existing orders. Is this something that can be implemented?

Thanks!