

Voting Cycle 3 begins Thursday (July 7) at 12pm PST / 7pm GMT and runs until Wednesday (July 20) at 12pm PST / 7pm GMT.

Voting will take place in Snapshot. A snapshot of delegate voting weights will be taken at the start of the Voting Cycle.

For a detailed breakdown of the governance and voting process, see the Operating Manual.

Context

Voting Cycle 3 is officially underway, and includes 9 proposals for voting. Hopefully this will relieve some pressure which delegates faced in the rather large Cycle 2. There are just a few notes that the Optimism Foundation would like to highlight going into this cycle:

- As stated in the Operating Manual, it is the recommendation of the Optimism Foundation that at least one delegate (with >0.0005% of voting power) signals their belief that the proposal is ready for a vote before passing. As in the previous cycle, proposals which have not received explicit approval by a delegate are still included. But, as a reminder —such proposals have not correctly followed the rules laid out in the Operating Manual, and such behavior should be considered by delegates in voting.

- One proposal whose vote did not pass in Cycle 2 has been marked as ready for Cycle 3. This highlights an edge case which was not previously considered in the Operating manual. The Optimism Foundation will make an updated release for the next cycle, but until then, this proposal has been re-included.
- A bug was fixed in Snapshot for this cycle, so that Optimism-native contracts which have been delegated can now make votes.

- Proposal F: Infinity Wallet
- Note: this proposal was included in Voting Cycle 2 and did not pass. However, the authors (who have enough delegation to self-approve) have marked it to be included in the next cycle. This is an edge case that the Optimism Foundation had not previously considered, and the OPERating Manual will be updated to consider such edge cases going forward.

For now, the proposal is re-included.
