

As a result of the GHO bug bounty program, we received a report on November 13, 2023, from Immunefi about an issue which could impact the GHO integration on Aave V3 Ethereum. Following a thorough analysis, we are able to confirm that the issue is valid, however, its potential impact is limited and negligible. The issue does not pose any risk to the Aave Protocol or to user funds. To address the issue, we developed a technical patch in collaboration with Certora. This patch provides a permanent solution without altering any of the existing GHO features within the Aave Pool. Importantly, users are not required to take any action.

Further details will be communicated to the community post the successful execution of the AIP, leading to the full resolution of the issue.
