

In that example script there is a mixup between round and tournament

. round is the number of the weekly round, tournament is an integer that defines the tournament you want to participate in.
That is basically irrelevant right now, because there is only one tournament active (that used to be different in the past).

to fix your script, just do `napi.upload_predictions("submissions")`

(so no tournament parameter) and you should be fine.

Tell me how it went!
