

If the community wants to take the best decisions possible for Uniswap, we should know what's in the pipe for V3.

In addition, a rough estimate of when the release can be expected (not a deadline of course) could greatly help.

More information = better decisions