

I can't seem to get any important answers to my questions because none communicate well here other than proposals and governance also I have been speaking to a somewhat uniswap developer member about a possible return on my uniswap token claim that was stolen from my wallet I'd like uniswap community to speak up about this situation because I cannot find anything or any post about this situation of uniswap developers helping members get their claim back from being stolen I'm sure this is untrue and possibly this person knows something I don't know about my uniswap tokens being stolen I like this to be clarified from the governance Community if that could be possible to help other members not be scammed or help them if they have been scammed I really don't believe this dev is who he says he is I do have proper people getting proper info Marion for this situation thank you for your help
