

Hi! I've been quite shocked after removal of the Trading reward fees without any changes in trading fees. Right now it's flat 0.01% more than other low-liquidity exchanges, and the same as Binance with literally 0 API issues.

We've invested to add dYdX to our portfolio and reached 2m monthly test volumes with over 80% orders filled (no spam, no MM BS), but right now I feel like shut down the connection. There are undocumented changes every week.

Any reason to say with this exchange I'm missing? Assuming we are fully KYC/AML complaint.
