

we need voice meetings along side those posts/topics, writing about the DAO alone is not gonna be affective like voice discussion.

when we hold official voice meetings promoted by the apecoin page it self and limit the access to holders for sure, in zoom for example (you can share you technical thoughts around how to execute this if you have one) will be more productive and we end the call with actions to take at the end of them sharing opinions is great, but we need the energy!

who is with me on that, share your thoughts please