

Not at this time, but maybe someday. There is lots of interest in that, but it isn't quite clear if that would help the metamodel or not, or whether it could be worked out without becoming a hugely complex boondoggle for the devs. (And whether it would even be legal.) However, there is nothing preventing you from making a private deal with a participant to do that – the terms and the risk being 100% between you and that person.
