

Do you think OP should conduct a large-scale airdrop next to attract market attention to L2 again? If it continues to be so sluggish, L2 will soon become a skeleton sinking to the bottom of the lake!

The airdrop tokens originally designed by OP were 14% of the total amount, #Airdrop1 airdropped 5%, and the following #Airdrop2+#Airdrop3 totaled only 1%, which means that the originally designed airdrop share still left 8% of the total tokens , approximately 344 million $OP.

Do you still remember the Optimism Quests you did back then? Users have spent time and a lot of money to complete the task, but it has been more than a year now and they have not received any rewards. I hope the project can use this airdrop to build momentum and attract the market's attention to L2 again!