

Proposal Name:

Establish Moderator Response Time Guideline

Proposal Category:

Process

Abstract

Using current and past proposals as a data set, here is the average length spent in each proposal phase:

AIP Idea: 7 days

AIP Draft: 23.17 days

Live AIP: 6 days

The AIP Idea and Live AIP time ranges are appropriate, but the length of the average AIP Draft phase is suboptimal. There is a good opportunity here to improve upon this process and make it more efficient, allowing the DAO to accomplish more.

Motivation

Having a moderator response time guideline will help speed up the proposal process and make it more efficient.

Rationale

The guiding value this proposal most aligns with is Collective Responsibility: We leave everything better than we found it.

It seeks to improve the proposal process that was initially setup.

Specifications

A guideline will be imposed to have the Moderator Team respond back to all author messages on the proposal threads within 7 days.

There won't be any penalties for failure to do so, but this will be a metric that can be shared in monthly, quarterly, and yearly reports and be the first of a series of benchmarks that can be used to analyze the efficiency of the proposal process.

Steps to Implement

1. Set guideline for Moderator Team to respond to all author messages on the proposal threads within 7 days.

Timeline

This will be implemented right away.
