

Bonjour,

Loss leader markets is something Binance has got absolutely right. On Binance spot there are currently 14 markets with zero trading fees on spot. This attracts traders and market makers alike and keeps users with Binance as they then explore the rest of the markets and market types.

Currently, there is no one doing zero trading fees for a perpetual market anywhere that I'm aware of. Making one or more of the perpetuals on DYDX zero fee would be an industry first and I'm sure it would be great for the ecosystem and the liquidity and trading volume of the exchange overall.

Cordialement, Tresgard