

I propose we add trailing stop option to GMX that will allow traders to send a pre-set order to the market when a market swing takes place. When the latest price reaches the highest/lowest price ($1 \pm \text{trailing delta}$) after an order is submitted, this triggers the order to be executed as a limit order. DYDX has this feature and I believe that if we add it more volume will be attracted from professional traders.