

This morning a suspicious message appeared in the “announcements” discord channel:

[

image

2766×904 227 KB

](https://forum.numer.ai/uploads/default/original/2X/c/ccab23f4f43014b4f7461d7343a86970c1a72f08.png)

It was posted by @surajp so i assume that the account was taken over by someone else. I tried to write a question in the general channel about this, but as soon as the scammer saw that i was writing, i immediately got a timeout for 7 days for the whole server:

[

image

2772×160 19.3 KB

](https://forum.numer.ai/uploads/default/original/2X/8/80a686a3c0c54b7ce716abc6cb876c1e1965542a.png)

I assume this is because the associated account has elevated permissions on the whole server so they can ban and timeout whoever they like.

While the scam is relatively obvious, its still a bit concerning how this one user took over the whole discord server and seemingly nothing is done about it and there is now no way for anyone to alert the rest of the users via the server itself.