

Don't do anything, and you'll get your 10 NMR in your wallet eventually (unless it burns first). (And it actually should tell you the date on the stake change dialog if you bring it up – BUT DON'T CHANGE ANYTHING IF YOU DO.)

This is why having no stake management is so maddening. Let's say you want to increase your withdrawal, or have one every week – can't do it without cancelling and starting over. Even if you only have one model, it makes sense to stake it with multiple times over several slots just so you can do increases/decreases with shorter time-frames than 5 weeks. (i.e. you can withdraw on one slot a week, or change your mind on that one without ruining some other withdrawal 3 weeks in, etc.)