

Open to any and all ideas. We need to prohibit exchanges holding UNI like Coinbase and Binance from having enough voting power to vote themselves whatever they like, while also preventing a few whales from conspiring to enrich themselves at the expense of everyone else.

If we don't prevent this from happening, they could simply vote to drop themselves all of the UNI to a few wallets and then dump it.

I still like the idea of pre-snapshot wallets and liquidity providers getting small airdrops each year as a way to cut down on this from happening.
