

We recently published a blog post on Chimera Chains, a feature of Anoma's Typhon ordering and execution engine.

Chimera Chains generalize shared sequencers. They use a consensus based on Heterogeneous Paxos to simplify cross-blockchain atomic transactions for chains with overlapping trust models.

This forum post is for discussion of the blog post.