

Who knows? But to be honest, I don't think it will reach 90$ in any short timeframe. However, if crypto enters a bull market again or interest in Numerai goes viral for whatever reason, it might happen, but probably for a very short time.

Keep in mind that on the rather long timescale (many years?) the fate of NMR is not secured, as there is a fixed amount of NMR that can run out, forcing Numerai to either buy back some NMR (which is good for us) or cancels the tournament (which is bad). Or, while it does not seem to be the case for now, if Numerai goes bankrupt or cancels the tournament for whatever reason, NMR price will become essentially 0.