

Hi guys, sorry for the novice question, but I have some doubts about the project's sustainability. The project raised funds through an ICO. Part of these funds went to the development of the project. At some point, these resources will run out. My doubts are:

1. In the transition from the ENG to SCRT token, was there any new funding for the development of the project?
2. Where will new funds come from to pay for the development of the project in the future?
3. If this amount comes from transaction fees or a percentage of staking rewards, when will these funds be used (is there any established time frame)?
4. Is there a contract of the current team with the development of the project that needs to be renewed or will the current team continue to develop the project forever?

Thank you in advance!
