

Why would he take free online courses when's already taking classes at university? That doesn't make any sense to me.

He really needs to focus on his coursework and getting an A in every class.