

Coinbase today announced the following:

"Base is an Ethereum L2 that offers a secure, low-cost, developer-friendly way for anyone, anywhere, to build decentralized apps.

Our goal with Base is to make onchain the next online and onboard 1B+ users into the cryptoeconomy."

My immediate thought would be to launch GMX on Base after the release as Synthetics to be the first protocol to get first mover advantage.

I wanted to share my thoughts and see if the community had any opinions.