

Hey folks!

According to my previous poll \(which you should vote in\), it seems like, despite the small sample size, that a reward for UNI holders/voters is on the way.

My question is, how would we structure it? I created a poll for simplicity's sake with everything I could think of, but this is by no means an exhaustive list... And let's keep it high-level for now! I thought it'd be interesting to gather sentiment and start a discussion about this.

How Should UNI Holders/Voters Be Rewarded?

- Redirect a portion of LP fees in their respective tokens
- Redirect a portion of LP fees to a UNI buy and burn
- Redirect a portion of LP fees to a UNI buy and distribute it to holders
- Redirect a portion of LP fees to ETH and distribute it to holders
- Other (please discuss!)

0

voters

One more thing, I know we don't have control over the fee switch or anything yet, so let's not be too hasty. My goal here is to help develop a wise, long-term oriented decentralized financial community. In doing so, we've got the power to really change the world.

Looking forward to hearing from you all!

Zer0dot

P.S. I'm also not claiming that any of these options are wise, let alone feasible. Let's discuss!