In this tour, women leaders in the fields of business and web3 technology came together to share their knowledge and experiences. The main focus was on empowering women to participate in the web3 revolution, which represented a significant shift in how decentralized applications, cryptocurrencies, and the digital economy were built and operated.

During the event, attendees could expect tech topics, interactive workshops, and panel discussions that explored subjects such as gender inclusion in technology, launching startups in the web3 space, and how to leverage the opportunities presented by this tour.

Furthermore, optimism was a key element of this event as it emphasized the potential and possibilities that web3 technology offered to entrepreneurial and professional people. Participants were encouraged to explore new ideas and envision a future in the digital economy.
