

Introduction

This document presents an overview of all the API endpoints a node exposes and the higher-level client SDKs.

An Overview of All Endpoints and SDKs

Each node can be configured with the following endpoints, and each type of endpoint is served on a different port for users to interact with a node. And we provide IRISHub client SDKs to facilitate developers to develop applications more conveniently. Details on how to configure each endpoint and SDKs is provided in their own section.
