

Hey everyone, I'm looking for feedback on my new newsletter design. On January 18th, Revue by Twitter was shut down. For many months, I had a simple newsletter available on my Twitter profile. I've now transitioned to using substack, and have populated it with new & updated articles.

I'm looking for feedback to make it better, and am also considering creating a stand-alone Twitter account for the project. The theme is based around conversations with chatGPT, and the articles are quite fun to write. Robots say interesting things!

I will be doing bi-weekly DAO articles as well, mainly focusing on mid-month updates & general summaries of governance actions & proposals passed. Updates on ecosystem projects will also be added. You can read the latest February summary @ <https://apegpt.substack.com/p/february-summary> I'll also work to write up summaries for the last couple of months for continuity.

Don't skip over the other articles, because chatGPT has given some often interesting & pleasant answers to common questions about the BAYC, DAO, and the greater web3 movement. What do you think about the answers? I'd love to discuss them here. You can also message me here on the forums with feedback or if you'd like to contribute to the project.
