

Could AAVE implement cross chain bridging? I would love to be able to move my portfolio easily among chains. Seems like AAVE is one of the few protocols that could have enough liquidity across different chains to implement this. As the biggest bridging protocols it could also be used as a way to generate value for the AAVE token.