

Is it possible to implement a well defined sorting mechanism into the protocol to eliminate MEV? Or is this impossible because there is no consensus in the mempool?