

Hallo!

I've taken three ETH2 clients and synced them up with the Wittli testnet while closely monitoring their performance metrics.

I've written a report that is available as PDF here:

preliminary, high-level eth2-client benchmarks. Contribute to q9f/eth2-bench-2020-06 development by creating an account on GitHub.

This repository also contains the raw data as well as scripts used to gather the data, and metadata necessary to potentially replay the test scenario.

I hope that someone will find this useful.
