

Lido is a cool project with a good market cap, and it's been profitable for its users and Ethereum node validators. I couldn't find info about Lido teaming up with other projects, but then I heard about Y24 .io. They say they've partnered with Lido and integrated some cool features like lending/borrowing and Bitcoin staking. The surprising part is they claim to offer even more rewards than Lido itself from the Lido Ethereum validators. Is this for real? I'm a bit confused. Can the Lido team and old users confirm if Y24 .io's claims are true? If not, why would Y24 .io say that?
