

There has been no/negative growing in daily trading volume and trading fees, despite whatever bogus programs the treasury managers have come up with requiring the sale of however millions of DYDX for the allegedly great idea.

none of the things that have implemented despite MILLIONS in DYDX sold and paid to them have had any effect on growing the platform. Plain and simple Obviously in the meantime they have decimated the price of DYDX despite the huge run from BTC and ETH SOL etc off of lows. seems crystal clear the treasury of DYDX is simply here to pay a group of overpaid managers for there unsuccessful ideas.

I have an idea and that is to pay for a set of twitter ads promoting DYDX as a place to trade crypto in countries that qualify obviously. if users that have ever used a crypto "cashtag" ie $DYDX $ETH $BTC if they have ever made a tweet or are searching for a tweet containing $ETH for instance they should get an add for DYDX on this screen. of course this is an additional payment to twitter but it might actually see some return.

we should well no one really has time to do this but sometime we should put together a list of the names and faces and $ paid to the various community managers just to see how bad they have actually been. huge huge fumble on this crypto ETF rebirth here you could have gotten all these trading fees and numbers without paying any of the managers or running any of the 'trading porgrams" (tho i like those)
