

I have been unsuccessful in building a test node. The docker container says permission denied, and that dependency required and mentioned in the node operators accordion tree that is currently broken at this moment-- or I would specify what it is-- (wasn't broken earlier today) requires secure boot be disabled, which causes my laptop to be unable to boot. I have decided that rather than chasing my tail, it would be much more beneficial to just deploy on the mainnet... however there are literally no guides or anything I can find walking me through this. Can anyone either give me a quick eli5 or point me to the right directions please?