

I propose that once the treasury funds unlock, that we reach out to some artists in the community and use those funds to develop some official Uniswap Swag. Everyone knows you're not real unless you have an official t-shirt

Sales of the swag should be done in $ETH or stablecoins unless you guys think we should do fiat sales too.

Proceeds from the sales would be diverted back into the community treasury, with the option that some of it could be redirected to community development proposals or public goods, like this