

Is $ARB registered as a security? If not do you think it would be a good idea, and if so how would that even be done? If its not a registered security what will happen if SEC finds out? Do you think the price will go up, or down, or no change maybe?