

This site required me to do OAuth to register. For privacy / data hygiene reasons I then removed my GitHub from this profile and de-authenticated the site in GitHub.

Next I changed my GitHub email address and deleted the previous address. Finally I also generated a new email address for this site to then remove the final remaining link to GitHub.

Question: How can I set a password on this site, such that I will be allowed to log in once my cookie expires? Can I just log in with the email that's now in my profile, without a password?
