

I am a Web3 dev focused on frontend/solidity.

atm it is hard to identify Lido's developer needs outside the narrow scope of the careers page and the short term grants program.

Lido feels very 'gated' which prevents outside contributors like me adding value and contributing to the decentralization of the project.

What steps do you think Lido can take to optimize outside contributor onboarding?