

If you know of anything that would be potentially more useful for Ethereum than sharding, please let me know.